

The VMRCVM Veterinary Teaching Hospital ophthalmology team recently treated an injured peregrine falcon and bald eagle under the supervision of Dr. Phillip Pickett, professor of ophthalmology in the Department of Small Animal Clinical Sciences. Great job by Dr. Pickett and the ophthalmology team, who worked with the Wildlife Center of Virginia in treating the injured birds.

View the full photo gallery.

Learn more about the peregrine falcon and bald eagle at the Wildlife Center of Virginia website.